

October 22,2008

Sorry, this blog isn't about dog diapers or dog incontinence--it's about dog toys!

Well, I ordered these interactive toys by Nina Ottosson for Macie. I got two, one easy and one "hard". Macie figured both of hers out immediately. This is the video I took of her last night doing the hard one after she had done it once--"the dad" needed to see. After she finished it a second time I figured she had had enough treats and quit. She wasn't ready tot quit-she laid down in front of it and stared. It was funny when she did the easy puzzle; she kept trying to get underneath it to see where the treats were coming from. She would even close the slats and reopen them to see if another would appear.

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Rznn1-VP0aY>